be raised
annually.

(3) Where the principal of the debt is made payable at a fixed date with interest payable annually or semi-annually, the by-law shall provide for the raising in each year during the currency of the debentures, or of any set of them by a special rate on all the rateable property in the municipality of,—

(a) a specific sum, sufficient to pay the interest on the debentures, or on any set of them, when, and as it becomes due; and

(b) a specific sum, which, with the estimated interest, at a rate not exceeding 3 per centum per annum, capitalized yearly, will be sufficient to pay the principal of the debentures, or of any set of them, when, and as it becomes due. R.S.O. 1927, c. 233, s. 296 (3); 1936, c. 39, s. 21 (1).

Equal annual instalments of principal and interest.

(4) Instead of the principal being made payable at a fixed date, with interest, payable annually or semi-annually, the by-law may provide that the principal and the interest shall be combined, and be made payable in, as nearly as possible, equal annual instalments during the period for which the debentures are to run, or that, without combining the principal and interest, the instalments of principal shall be of such amounts that, with the interest in respect of the debt, payable annually or semi-annually, the aggregate amount payable for principal and interest in each year shall be, as nearly as possible, the same; provided, that each instalment of principal may be for an even $100, $500, or $1,000, or multiple thereof, and notwithstanding anything herein contained, the annual instalments of principal and interest may differ in amount sufficiently to admit thereof.

of issuing debentures.

(7) The council may by by-law, without the assent of the electors, authorize a change in the mode of issue of the debentures, and may provide that the debentures be issued with coupons, instead of in amounts of combined principal and interest or vice versa, and where any debentures issued under the by-law have been sold, pledged or hypothecated by the council, upon again acquiring them, or at the request of any holder of them, may cancel them, and issue one or more debentures in substitution for them, and make such new debenture or debentures payable by the same or a different mode on the instalment plan, but no change shall be made in the amount payable in each year.

(8) All the debentures shall be issued at one time and within two years after the passing of the by-law, unless on account of the proposed expenditure for which the by-law provides being estimated or intended to extend over a number of years, and of its being undesirable to have large portions of the money in hand unused and uninvested, in the opinion of the council, it would be of advantage to so issue them, and in that case the by-law may provide that the debentures may be issued in sets of such amounts, and at such times as the circumstances require, but so that the first of the sets shall be issued within two years, and all of them within five years, after the passing of the by-law.

Debentures, when to be dated and issued.

(9) All the debentures shall bear the same date, except where they are issued in sets, and in that case every debenture of the same set shall bear the same date.

Extension of time for issue.

(12) The extension may be made, although the application is not made until after the expiration of the two years or of the time provided for the issue of the set.

Application after time expired.

(13) Unless the by-law names a later day when it is to take effect, it shall take effect on the day of its passing. R.S.O. 1927, c. 233, s. 296 (4-13).

Day when by-law to take effect.

(14) No by-law providing for the issue of sinking fund debentures shall be submitted for the assent, or to obtain the opinion of the electors, and no debt shall be incurred for any purpose if it is intended that the cost be provided by the subsequent issue of sinking fund debentures, until the approval of the Municipal Board as to the issue of sinking fund debentures has first been applied for and obtained. 1936, c. 39, s. 21 (2).

(2) Where under the provisions of any by-law of a municipality debentures issued thereunder are expressed and made payable in sterling, the council may in such by-law or in any amending by-law, in lieu of providing for the raising in each year during the currency of the debentures specific sums sufficient to pay interest thereon and to meet sinking fund payments or instalments of principal falling due in such year, provide that there shall be raised such yearly amount as may be necessary for the said purposes and as the requirements for such purposes may from year to year vary.

Approval of Municipal Board.

(3) No by-law for the borrowing and raising of money or the issue of debentures expressed and payable in sterling shall finally be passed until the same is approved by the Municipal Board. 1933, c. 37, s. 8.

The voter will fold up the ballot paper so as to show the name or initials of the deputy returning officer (or returning officer, as the case may be) signed on the back, and leaving the compartment will, without showing the front of the paper to any person, deliver such ballot paper so folded to the deputy returning officer (or returning officer, as the case may be) and forthwith quit the polling place.

If the voter votes for more candidates for any office than he is entitled to vote for, his ballot paper will be void as far as relates to that office, and will not be counted for any of the candidates for that office.

(2) Where such lot is exempted the amount of the special assessment which would otherwise be chargeable thereon shall be specially assessed against all the other abutting lots, and where a reduction is made the entire cost of the work shall be specially assessed as if it were the cost in respect to the reduced frontage but the whole of the lot granted the reduction shall be charged with the special assessment as so reduced. 1928, c. 38, s. 3; 1930, c. 45, s. 1.

Assessment of cost of outlet for sewage.

33. Where the work is the construction of a sewer and it is necessary to construct an outlet for the sewage, and the lands fronting or abutting on or through which such outlet is constructed are not benefited or served thereby, the cost of the outlet shall be deemed to be a part of the cost of the sewer and shall not be specially assessed against the lands fronting or abutting on the outlet or through which the outlet is constructed. R.S.O. 1927, c. 235, s. 30.

Assessment of cost of outlet sewer as separate work.

34. When the work is the construction of a sewer which is an outlet for the sewage from lands not abutting directly upon the work, the council may, in the by-law for undertaking the work passed by a vote of three-fourths of all the members, provide for the payment by the corporation of such part of the cost of the work as to the council may seem just, and that the residue thereof shall be specially assessed on the lands not abutting on the work but immediately benefited thereby in the manner provided by sections 36 and 37. 1928, c. 38, s. 5.

Rev. Stat., c. 56.

(2) The provisions of this Act shall apply and extend to any case where the drainage work is required for the drainage of a road or portion thereof, and in any such case the municipal council may proceed upon a petition describing the road or part of road to be drained, and signed by the engineer or road superintendent appointed under The Highway Im- provement Act by the Department, county, commission or township having control over such road, and in case the road forms the boundary between two municipalities, the council of either municipality may proceed on such petition.

(3) The provisions of this Act shall apply and extend to every case where the drainage work can only be effectually executed by embanking, pumping or other mechanical operation, but in every such case the municipal council shall not proceed except upon the petition of at least two-thirds of the owners of lands within the area described according to subsection 2.

(8) Any lands ~~or~~ roads from which the flow of surface water is by any drainage work cut off, may be assessed and charged for same by the engineer or surveyor of the municipality doing the work, and such assessment shall be classified and scheduled as benefit. R.S.O. 1927, c. 241, s. 2.

PETITION FOR CONSTRUCTION.

4.—(1) Any engineer or surveyor employed or appointed by any municipal council to perform any work under the provisions of this Act, including the assessment of real property for the purpose of drainage work, shall before entering upon his duty, take and subscribe the following oath, and shall leave the same with, or send it by registered letter post to the clerk of the municipality:

take oath not to invalidate.

(2) The failure of the engineer or surveyor to take the oath shall not invalidate any proceedings taken under the provisions of this Act. R.S.O. 1927, c. 241, s. 4.

Assessment
of land affected.

5.—(1) The engineer or surveyor, in assessing the lands to be benefited or otherwise liable for assessment under this Act, need not confine his assessment to the part of the lot actually affected, but he shall nevertheless in his report show the approximate number of acres contained in the part affected by his assessment.

Apportionment of assessment
on subdivision of land
assessed.

(2) Where part of a whole lot or of a subdivision or portion of a lot assessed by the engineer has been sold since the final revision of the assessment, the owner of the part so sold or the owner of the remaining portion of the lot or subdivision or portion of a lot so assessed, may give notice to the clerk of the municipality that he requires such assessment to be apportioned between the owners of the property so assessed and subdivided, and the township engineer shall thereupon make such apportionment in writing and the same shall be filed with the clerk and shall be by him attached to the original assessment, and shall be binding on the lands assessed in the manner apportioned by the engineer, and the rate shall thereafter be levied and collected accordingly.

(3) The costs of the engineer shall be borne and paid by the parties in the manner which may be fixed or apportioned by such engineer. R.S.O. 1927, c. 241, s. 5. Costs of engineer.

6. The assessment upon any lands or roads for any drainage work may be shown by the engineer or surveyor placing sums of money opposite the lands or roads, and it shall not be necessary to insert the fractional part of the whole cost to be borne by the lands or roads. R.S.O. 1927, c. 241, s. 6. Assessment may be shown in money.

7. The engineer or surveyor, when required by the council, shall make plans, specifications and detailed estimates of the drainage work to be constructed and charge the same to the work as part of its cost. R.S.O. 1927, c. 241, s. 7. Plans, specifications and estimates.

8.—(1) The engineer or surveyor shall in his report and estimates provide for the construction, enlargement or other improvement of any bridges or culverts throughout the course of the drainage work rendered necessary by such work crossing any public highway or the travelled portion thereof, and he shall in his assessment apportion the cost of bridges and culverts between the drainage work and the municipality or municipalities having jurisdiction over such public highway as to him may seem just. Bridges and culverts on highways.

(2) It shall be lawful for any municipality to pass a general by-law for the purpose of assuming, as a charge upon the general funds of the municipality, the whole or such portion as such by-law may determine of the construction and maintenance of all bridges or culverts rendered necessary by any drainage work crossing public highways, or portions thereof within such municipality, and when such a by-law has been passed, it shall not be repealed, except with the permission of the referee, and so long as such by-law remains unrepealed, the engineer or surveyor shall, in his assessment, apportion the cost of such bridges and culverts in accordance with the provision of the said by-law. General by-law as to assessments for culverts, bridges on highways.

Construction of access bridges.

(3) The engineer or surveyor shall also in his report and estimates provide for the construction or enlargement of bridges required to afford access from the lands of owners to the travelled portion of any public highway, and he shall include the cost of the construction or enlargement of such bridges in his assessment for the construction of the drainage work, and they shall, for the purposes of construction and maintenance, be deemed part of the drainage work, and the maintenance thereof may include any enlargement from time to time rendered necessary by the drainage work.

Farm
bridges.

(4) The engineer or surveyor shall in the same manner provide for the construction or enlargement of bridges and water gate rendered necessary by the drainage work upon the lands of any owner, and shall fix the value of the construction or enlargement thereof to be paid to the respective owners entitled thereto, but the land assessed for the drainage work shall not nor shall any municipal corporation be liable for keeping such bridges and water gate in repair, and should the engineer or any surveyor deem it proper that any of such bridges should be constructed and maintained by the drainage scheme, he may so provide by his report.

Allowance
for severance.

(5) If the engineer or surveyor thinks it expedient to make an allowance for severance to the owner instead of providing for the construction, enlargement or other improvement of a bridge as provided by subsections 3 and 4, he shall in his report provide for payment to the owner of such amount as he may think just by way of allowance for severance, and shall in his assessment apportion such amount as he may think fit.

Allowance
for private ditches.

(6) The engineer or surveyor shall likewise in his report estimate and allow in money to any person, company or corporation the value to the drainage work of any private ditch or drain, or of any ditch constructed under any Act respecting ditches or watercourses which may be incorporated in whole or in part into such drainage work or used therewith.

Disposal of material taken from
work.

(7) The engineer or surveyor shall further in his report determine in what manner the material taken from any drainage work, either in the construction or repair thereof, shall be disposed of, and the amount to be paid to the respective persons entitled for damages to lands and crops, if any, occasioned thereby, and shall include such sums in his estimates of the cost of the drainage work or the repairs.

Allowance
for right
of way, pumping
works.

(8) The engineer or surveyor shall likewise in his report estimate and allow in money to any person, company or corporation the value to the drainage work of any land belonging to such person, company or corporation which it is necessary to use for the purpose of the construction of a drainage work, or as a site for a pumping station to be used in connection with a drainage work, or as a means of access to any such pumping station; provided, however, that in the latter case the engineer or surveyor may allow for right of way only if in his opinion such right of way is sufficient for the purposes of the drainage work.

(9) Where, in the opinion of the engineer or surveyor, the cost of continuing the drainage work to a point where the discharge of water will do no injury to lands and roads, or the cost of constructing the drainage work with sufficient capacity to carry off the water, will exceed the amount of injury likely to be caused to low lying lands along the course of, or below the termination of the work, instead of continuing the work to such a point, or constructing it of such capacity, he may include in his estimate of the cost of the drainage work a sufficient sum to compensate the owners of such low lying lands for any injuries they may sustain from the drainage work, and he shall in his report determine the amount to be paid to the respective owners of low lying lands in respect of such injuries.

Assessment of compensation for damage to low lands instead of constructing drain to an outlet.

(10) Any owner of lands affected by the drainage work, if dissatisfied with the report of the engineer in respect of any of the provisions of this section, may appeal therefrom to the referee, and in every such case the notice of appeal shall be served upon the head of the council of the initiating municipality and the clerk thereof within thirty days after the adoption of the engineer's report by the council, and the referee may hear and determine the appeal in a summary manner either on his own view of the premises and after hearing the parties and if he sees fit, their witnesses, or he may direct that the further proceedings on such appeal shall be as hereinafter provided in other cases of appeals to the referee, and the referee, on an appeal under this subsection, may make such order as to him seems just, and his decision shall be final.

Appeal to referee.

(11) Any owner of lands affected by the drainage work may appeal from the report of the engineer to the referee upon the ground that the benefits to be derived from the drainage work are not commensurate with the estimated cost thereof, and in every such case the notice of appeal shall be served upon the head of the council of the initiating municipality and the clerk thereof within thirty days after the adoption of the engineer's report by the council, and the referee may hear and determine the appeal in a summary manner either on his own view of the area affected by the drainage work or any part or parts thereof and after hearing the parties and if he sees fit, their witnesses, or he may direct that the further proceedings on such appeal shall be as hereinafter provided in other cases of appeals to the referee, and the referee, on an appeal under this subsection may make such order as to him seems just, and his decision shall be final.

Appeal to referee on ground of excessive cost.

Security for costs of appeal.

(12) No such appeal shall be proceeded with until the appellant has given security in the sum of $100 to be deposited in money with the clerk of the initiating municipality that he will effectually prosecute the appeal and pay such costs as may be awarded by the referee if his appeal is dismissed. 1933, c. 38, s. 2.

Notice to persons
assessed.

(13) Forthwith upon the filing of the engineer's report with the clerk of the municipality, the clerk shall, by letter or postal card, notify the parties assessed of such assessment and the amount thereof, and in case more than one municipality is interested in the proposed work, the clerk of such other municipality or municipalities shall forthwith, upon the filing of a copy of the engineer's report in their office, notify the parties assessed of such assessment and the amount thereof, and he shall also in like manner notify each of the owners of lands in respect of which the report provides for compensation of the date of filing the report, the amount awarded to such owner for compensation and the date of the council meeting at which the report will be read and considered. R.S.O. 1927, c. 241, s. 8 (11).

(14) The engineer or surveyor shall also in his report, plans, specifications and profiles sufficiently record the descriptions, locations and elevations of every bench mark or permanent level by which a drainage work is to be governed. 1931, c. 56, s. 2.

Time for filing report.

(15) The report of the engineer shall be filed within six months after the filing of the petition, or within such further time as the council may in their discretion from time to time appoint, and the council may adopt the report of the engineer if they see fit notwithstanding that such report is made after the six months herein fixed for making the same or after any extended period fixed by the council under this subsection, but if the engineer is unable to file his report within the time specified, the referee on the application of the engineer for an extension of time, may extend the time for the filing of the report, and shall notify the council of such extension.

If engineer neglects to do work, council may appoint another.

(16) In case the engineer neglects to make his report within the time limited by subsection 15, or within the time fixed by the council or referee, under that subsection, he shall forfeit all claim for compensation for the work done by him upon the drain, and the council may employ some other engineer who shall have the same duties and powers as if originally appointed and employed.

(17) A by-law passed by the council of any municipality for the construction of any drainage work under this Act, upon the report of the engineer, shall not be quashed or declared void or illegal by reason only that the report of the engineer has not been filed within six months after the filing of the petition provided for in this Act, or within the extended period provided for in subsection 15.

By-law not to be invalid by reason of report not being filed within six months.

(18) Wherever a drainage work has been or shall be hereafter constructed upon, along, under or across the lands, permanent way, transmission lines, power lines, wires, conduits or other permanent property of a public utility, the corporation, commission, company or person or persons operating such public utility shall have the option of constructing the portion of such drainage work required to be constructed upon, along, under or across its said property.

Public utility may construct drainage work.

(19) In the event of such corporation, commission, company or person or persons not exercising such option and completing such work within a reasonable time and without any unnecessary delay such work may be constructed or completed in the same manner and under the same authority as any other portion of such work.

Non-exercise of power.

(20) In addition to all other sums lawfully assessed against the property of any public utility under the provisions of this Act the public utility shall also be assessed for and shall pay all the increase of cost of the work caused by the construction and operation of the public utility. R.S.O. 1927, c. 241, s. 8 (12-17).

Grounds of appeal.

(2) The reasons of appeal which shall be set out in such notice may be the following or any of them:—

(a) where the assessment against the appealing municipality exceeds $1,000, or exceeds the estimated cost of the work in the initiating municipality,—

(i) that the scheme of the drainage work as it affects the appealing municipality should be abandoned or modified, on grounds to be stated;

(ii) that such scheme does not provide for a sufficient outlet;

(iii) that the course of the drainage work, or any part thereof, should be altered;

(iv) that the drainage work should be carried to an outlet in the initiating municipality or elsewhere;

(b) in any case not otherwise provided for,—

(i) that a petition has been received by the council of the appealing municipality, as provided by section 2, from the majority of the owners within the area described in the petition, praying for the enlargement by the appealing municipality of any part of the drainage work lying within its limits, and thence to an outlet, and that the council is of opinion that such enlargement is desirable to afford drainage facilities for the area described in the petition;

(ii) that such appealing municipality objects to paying over its proportion of the cost of the work to the treasurer of the initiating municipality;

(iii) that the initiating municipality should not be permitted to do the work within the limits of the appealing municipality;

(iv) that the assessment against lands and roads within the limits of the appealing municipality and roads under its jurisdiction is illegal, unjust or excessive. R.S.O. 1927, c. 241, s. 66.

68.—(1) Upon an appeal under section 67 the referee shall hear and adjudicate upon all questions raised by the notice of appeal, as they may affect any municipality assessed for the drainage work, and he may give to any municipality through or into which the proposed work will be continued, leave to enlarge the same, pursuant to petition in that behalf and according to the report, plans, specifications, assessments and estimates of an engineer appointed by the referee for that purpose, and may make such order in the premises and as to costs already incurred, and as to costs of the appeal as may seem just.
